TEACHERS ROSTER FOR COMING YEAR

JANESVILLE SCHOOLS WILL OPEN SEPTEMBER 8.

BUT FEW NEW TEACHERS

Buildings Have All Been Cleaned—New Ventilating System at Adams School.

On September 8th the Janesville public schools will open for the full term. Superintendent Thiel will conduct an examination for grade pupils on the second of September and for city teachers on the third of September.

In the Adams school a new fan ventilating system has been installed at a cost of about $3,000 and the grounds of the Jefferson school have been graded and put in good shape. Minor repairs have been made in all the buildings and they have been thoroughly cleaned.

More Pupils.
The total number of children attending the Janesville schools will be about 2,800. More children from outside the city limits are attending the schools every year. Last year in the high school alone there were eighty pupils from the country and from the number who have sent in inquiries already this number will be considerably augmented this year.

Roster of Teachers.
There will be a number of shifts in the teachers but very many new teachers. Mrs. Monica Gugin Roesling and Mrs. Mabel Glenn Cook have both resigned from the Jackson school. Mrs. Roesling's place will be taken by Miss Elizabeth Little from the Grant school and Miss Mary Doherty will take Miss Little's place in the third and fourth grades of the Grant school. Miss Little taught at Elkhorn last year and is a graduate of the Whitewater Normal school. Miss Mary Doherty, a graduate of the Milwaukee Normal school, who taught last year in Milwaukee, will take Mrs. Cook's place in the first and second grades of the Jackson school.

New Teachers.
Miss Jennie Cleland has resigned her place in the first and second grades of the Grant school and Miss Emma Whitmore from the Lincoln school will teach in her place. Miss Whitmore's position in the Lincoln school will be taken by Claude Stout who was principal last year of the Fulton graded schools.

At High School.
In the high school faculty there will be only one change. Miss Terry who taught English has resigned and will go to the Superior schools at an advanced salary. Her place will be taken by Miss Harriett Sawyer who taught last year in the Fond du Lac schools. She has had five years' experience in high schools and was a member of the class of '01 of the university.

The List.
The following is a list of the teachers and their subjects or grades:
HIGH SCHOOL.—John Arbuthnot, science; Mary Armstrong, science; L. E. Rath, history and civics; Allen R. West, mathematics; Emma J. ## WAIVED EXAMINATION IN THE COURT TODAY

Trial of William Burns is set for the Third of September by Judge.

This morning in the municipal court William Burns, who is charged with picking pockets at the St. Paul depot on the afternoon of the thirtieth of this month, waived examination and his trial was set for the third of September. Alvin Eldor of Edgerton, who lost about fifteen dollars, John Dalton, who caught Burns, Peter Mick and conductor George G. Dan of the St. Paul company, had all been subpoenaed and were ready to testify at the examination. Atty. Louis Avery appeared for Burns.

Has D. T.
A young fellow giving his name as W. E. Wall was picked up by the officers and escorted to the lock-up. He is either insane or has a bad case of the delirium tremens, as his hands are constantly moving as though pushing something away from him. A doctor was called this morning to give him a quieting dose, and later in the day he was taken to the jail.

Swore out Warrant.
Under a warrant sworn out by Gertrude Thompson, Clarence Brandt was arrested and brought up in court this morning, abusing his horses yesterday. Brandt pleaded not guilty and the trial was set for September third.

TOOK LONG HIKE AS A PLEASURE TRIP

Three Madison High School Boys Tramp Forty Miles Yesterday to This City.

Three Madison high school athletes walked to this city yesterday from Madison and covered the 40-mile trip in 10 hours, walking mostly on railroad ties. The boys are John K. Lester, Albert R. Torgney and Joseph W. Hollenbeck. They are all athletes, Hollenbeck and Lester being half mile and mile runners. Lester took third place in the mile run at the 1908 interscholastic field meet. Torgney took second in the 220-yard low hurdles and this fall will play his second year of high school football on the Madison team. Hollenbeck is the high school editor of the Madison Democrat and has the distinction of being Madison's youngest newspaper correspondent, being a little over 17 years of age and having written since last September. The trio rode to Beloit this noon after looking about the city. Thence they will return to Madison by rail. Although the trip was difficult and tiresome, the boys did not regret it at all and expect to visit Janesville with the football team this fall. While in this city they were the guests of Conductor and Mrs. G. H. Dower.

LATE CROPS WERE HURT BY DROUGHT

Dry Weather is Causing All the Growth to Be in the Stalks Alone.

A good rain and warm sunny weather is just what is needed to bring along the late crops. The early plants have not suffered much from the drought, but the later varieties are feeling it very much. Some of the crops this year will be record-breakers while others will not turn out so good.

The early corn is in very good condition considering the dryness which has prevailed and it will probably be a good crop but the later sown crops are much affected by the dryness and may be almost a failure.

The cabbage are not heading as good as they should and are growing up into stalks. There are lots of worms in them so that there is danger of a shortage in this as well as other localities. The crop of oats this year is not so very heavy but what they lack in quantity is made up in the quality of them. The barley is also a good crop. Both oats and barley are being threshed now.

Sugar beets are also said to be suffering and will not turn out as good as usual.
A local tobacco buyer who has just returned from a long trip through six tobacco-raising counties reports seeing only two good even fairly healthy crops out of one hundred and forty-two crops that he looked over. The dry weather and the cool nights, he says, are not conducive to good quality. In his opinion the men who are buying the tobacco in the field are in great danger of losing. He tells that the crop of clover seed near Munton is the most profitable crop that has ever been raised in the state.
The men employed at G. H. Rumrill's warehouse are very busy unloading four carloads of two hundred and fifty-six cases of tobacco purchased on a northern trip last week. They are also shipping out a lot of 103 cases.

A MASS MEETING SHOWS APPROVAL

FORTY THOUSAND CLUB OF CAP. ITAL CITY PLAN FOR ONE.

MADISON WANTS INTERURBAN

Have Gathering Arranged For Tonight To Give Cincinnati Construction Company All Encouragement Possible.

That Madison wants an interurban connection with Janesville is evidenced by the following dispatch from that city this afternoon. It appears that the sentiment is so strong in favor of an interurban that a mass meeting has been called to publicly welcome the proposition. The dispatch says:

Madison, Wis., Aug. 27.—This city will show its enthusiasm in favor of connecting Madison and Janesville with an interurban line tonight at a public mass meeting in the county court house, called by the Forty Thousand club, the organization of business men of the city. It was first intended to hold the meeting in a up town office, but so much interest was manifested and it was decided to make a general public meeting of the occasion. Mayor Belmont and the aldermen will be present and it is said they will pledge themselves to work toward the end that the Cincinnati Construction company may have all possible encouragement in building the proposed line. It is believed that as a result of the demonstration on the part of the citizens, the Southern Wisconsin Railway company, the local traction corporation, will be willing to make reasonable terms for the use of its line to South Madison as an entrance to the city. If such an arrangement can be effected, the interurban cars can run into the very center of the city and encircle the capitol park. This will obviate the necessity of the new company building its own entrance line, which would necessitate great expense. There is no physical reason why the interurbans could not run over the existing line, for the system is now rebuilt and the rails are the great heavy kind suited to the carrying of heavy rolling stock. To build another line within the city limits would simply place car lines on new streets, which is believed to be undesirable and unnecessary. The purpose of the mass meeting tonight is to assure the construction company of the cordiality with which the people of this city will welcome the new line, and also to bring to bear upon the local traction company the advisability of encouraging the new project with an offer of reasonable terms for the joint use of the present existing tracks.

This will obviate the necessity of the new company building its own entrance line, which would necessitate great expense. There is no physical reason why the interurbans could not run over the existing line, for the system is now rebuilt and the rails are the great heavy kind suited to the carrying of heavy rolling stock. To build another line within the city limits would simply place car lines on new streets, which is believed to be undesirable and unnecessary. The purpose of the mass meeting tonight is to assure the construction company of the cordiality with which the people of this city will welcome the new line, and also to bring to bear upon the local traction company the advisability of encouraging the new project with an offer of reasonable terms for the joint use of the present existing tracks.

Madison, Wis., Aug. 27.—This city will show its enthusiasm in favor of connecting Madison and Janesville with an interurban line tonight at a public mass meeting in the county court house, called by the Forty Thousand club, the organization of business men of the city. It was first intended to hold the meeting in a up town office, but so much interest was manifested and it was decided to make a general public meeting of the occasion. Mayor Belmont and the aldermen will be present and it is said they will pledge themselves to work toward the end that the Cincinnati Construction company may have all possible encouragement in building the proposed line. It is believed that as a result of the demonstration on the part of the citizens, the Southern Wisconsin Railway company, the local traction corporation, will be willing to make reasonable terms for the use of its line to South Madison as an entrance to the city. If such an arrangement can be effected, the interurban cars can run into the very center of the city and encircle the capitol park. ## SERIOUS FLOOD AT AUGUSTA, GA.

CITY UNDER WATER AND MUCH PROPERTY DAMAGED.

THREE PERSONS DROWN

Terrific Downpour of Rain, with Gales and Cold Weather, Causes Death and Destruction in New York.

Atlanta, Ga., Aug. 27.—A long-distance telephone message from the Associated Press correspondent at Augusta says that the city is completely under water. In the downtown portion business houses, telegraph offices, and newspaper offices are completely demoralized.

There were three deaths in Augusta Wednesday, two white people and one negro. No names could be secured.

The damage to the city and immediate surroundings, it is estimated, will reach half a million dollars. At 8:30 Wednesday night it was learned through the single wire of the Georgia Railroad company working partly into Augusta, that the large cotton warehouse and wholesale grocery warehouses of the Nixon company were burning.

The union depot is under ten feet of water and in the prominent residence district, on Green street, the water stands six feet deep and is slowly rising. The Sacred Heart church is in six feet of water.

Mail Service Interrupted.

Washington, Aug. 27.—The flooded conditions in the south have caused some serious interruptions to the railroad mail service. Reports received from Atlanta by the post office department show a serious break at Groves, S. C., on the Railway Dispatch line between Atlanta and Greensboro. Also, on the Seaboard Air line at Garlington, S. C., and the Savannah river bridge, whence all mails pass on the route between Miami and Atlanta, the service is interrupted. Between Asheville, N. C., and Charleston, S. C., there are several points where the railroad tracks have been washed away, and numerous washouts have been reported to the department in South Carolina and eastern Georgia.

Great Downpour in New York.

New York, Aug. 27.—A terrific downpour of rain lasting more than 24 hours and attended by the coldest August weather New York has experienced for 23 years, was responsible for two deaths Wednesday and great property damage. More than three inches of rain fell and the thermometer registered as low as 55 degrees.

MADE BLIND BY HAZING.

Shocking Abuse of Naval Apprentice at a Training Station.

San Francisco, Aug. 27.—The Bulletin prints a story of the hazing at the naval training station at Ybor, Buena Island, of Earl Irey, a 21-year-old apprentice on the training ship Pensacola, which will probably result in his loss of sight and in the court-martial of O. P. Guy and J. Valorous, two ship mates. The hazing, it is said, occurred August 10 and every effort has been made to keep the incident from becoming public.

According to the story, Irey was caught by Guy and Valorous as he was preparing to retire for the night, a noose was fastened tightly around his neck, the rope passed over a hook and he was swung clear of the deck, remaining suspended for five minutes. He was found in this position by the master-at-arms, his eyes bulging out and his tongue swollen and black.

For days he lingered between life and death and the doctors now say that he has lost the sight of one eye and probably of both. Irey will be sent to his home in Oklahoma.

LINDSAY RESIGNS AS LOCAL AGENT

CHANGES TO BE MADE IN THE NORTH-WESTERN LOCAL FORCES.

ALVA HEMMENS APPOINTED

Mr. Lindsay Will Go West to Seattle to Enter Business—Mr. Hemmens Has Been with Road Twenty-four Years.

Within the next twenty-four hours, David J. Lindsay, general agent for the North-Western road for the past four years will retire from railroad work and Alva Hemmens, present chief clerk, will become the Janesville agent.

Rumors of the approaching changes were heard some days ago, but it was not until this morning when the auditor notified Mr. Lindsay that he would be in Janesville to check him up today or tomorrow that it was known Mr. Lindsay's resignation had been accepted.

Mr. Lindsay retired from the service of the North-Western road after having been in their employ for seventeen years. He came to Janesville four years ago from Salt Lake City, Utah, where for many years he was traveling freight agent and since his advent here has made many warm personal friends.

Mr. Lindsay's retirement and removal to Seattle will be a source of sincere regret to both his own personal friends and those of his wife. Just what business he will engage in is not known.

Mr. Alva Hemmens, who takes Mr. Lindsay's place as agent, was born and raised in Janesville and has been in the service of the North-Western road for twenty-four years. He began his work for the railroad as clerk in the freight office April 12, 1884, and has been in continuous service for the road since that time.

He has from time to time been promoted, receiving the position of rate clerk September 11, 1893, promoted to the position of cashier April 15, 1898, and four years ago when Mr. Lindsay came here he was appointed chief clerk and has held that office until his advancement to the position of agent.

It is understood that the change will be made this afternoon or tomorrow and that Mr. Hemmens will immediately assume control of the office. The road recently did away with the title of general agent so that Mr. Hemmens will be known as Agent.

He is today receiving the congratulations of his many friends in the city, who are rejoiced over his appointment. He has not as yet filled the position of chief clerk. It is not understood there will be any other changes in the clerical force of the road at this point.

OPERA HOUSE STAGE A BOWER OF BEAUTY.

The stage of the Myers Opera House for Father Vaughan's lecture is decorated probably more artistically than it has ever been the pleasure of the public to see. The decorations are floral throughout, all growing plants arranged in groups and clusters that make a bewitching sight. The center of the stage towards the rear is occupied by a large graceful palm set upon a high pedestal around the bottom of which is formed a perfectly round cluster of ferns, foliage plants of a dozen different varieties. Spreading from the center to the front on either side of the stage are banks of foliage plants, ferns, palms, bay trees, a dozen different species. Beautiful blooming lilies are placed tastefully here and there. The smaller varieties of umbrellas plants spread their dark green leaves, shading the more dense foliage of the ferns which spring up in every conceivable spot. The work is a work of art, and in itself is worth going to see. Mr. E. Ellsworth, to whom credit is due for this display, is a practical nurseryman who has made Janesville his home for some time.

OBITUARY.

Mrs. John Torpy.
The funeral of Mrs. John Torpy of Footville was held yesterday at Rockford. The pallbearers were George Joyce, Frank Joyce, John Joyce, Henry Craven of Rockford, and John Torpy and P. Torpy of Footville. The remains were brought to Janesville yesterday noon and were taken to the Mt. Olivet cemetery, where the interment took place. Mrs. Torpy's three daughters, Mrs. John Joyce, Mrs. Charles Craven, and Miss Catherine Torpy of Rockford, accompanied the remains. Mrs. Burke, Mrs. Leary, and Mrs. Quikley of Rockford were also here.

Mrs. John Marshall.
Last evening shortly after eleven o'clock Mrs. John Marshall passed peacefully away at her home No. 5 Washington street. Deceased was of a bright and jovial disposition and by her cheerful ways won the love and esteem of a large number of acquaintances, who will be grieved to hear of her demise. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Brennan of this city. Besides a heartbroken husband and parents she leaves an infant and three sisters and a brother, they being Mrs. D. Clifford of Sioux Falls, S. D., Misses Mabel and Nellie Brennan and John M. all of this city. Notice of the funeral will be given later.

WAS ATTACKED LAST NIGHT ON STREET

Third Attempted Assault in Three Weeks Occurred Last Evening About Eight.

Last evening about eight o'clock as Miss Emma Gehl was passing along Bluff street between Pearl and Chatham streets she was attacked by an unknown man. He sprang upon Miss Gehl so suddenly that she did not see where he came from and attempted to choke her. She managed to cry out for help and Thomas Hurrell, an oil engineer living on Pearl street heard her cries and ran to help her. He chased the assailant but was unable to catch him.

Miss Gehl describes the man as a big, tall, dark haired man wearing dark clothes and a black slouch hat. She says she would know him again if she should see him.

This is the third attack of like nature which has occurred in this vicinity within the last few weeks. Mrs. John Haffrey of 105 Terrace street was attacked by a man who answered the description given by Miss Gehl. She managed to escape from him but the man was not captured. Mrs. Haffrey, who lives on Terrace street was also attacked.

The descriptions given by all the women correspond, all describing him as a big fellow with a black slouch hat.

MAY SAVE MONEY BY PETITION TO BOARD

If It Is Decided That William Rockwood Did Not Live in Rock County.

If Superintendent Kilham's petition to the state board of control to have William Rockwood declared a state at large patient is favorably acted upon next week the county will be saved several thousand dollars. Rockwood was sent to Waupun from Racine in May, 1903, and later was removed to the Northern Hospital for the Insane. From there he was brought to the Rock county insane asylum as a resident of Rock county. District Attorney Fisher took the matter up and was unable to find any record of Rockwood's residence here. Mr. Fisher accordingly prepared a petition to the state board of control to have Rockwood declared a state patient at large. If the petition is granted the county will receive $3 a week for Rockwood's maintenance. As he is a man of about thirty years of age and in good health he will probably live for twenty years. This will accordingly be a great saving to the county.

The records which can be found show that he was born in Canada and lived for most of his life in Michigan. The hearing will be in Madison on September 2. District Attorney Fisher will appear for the county and the attorney general for the state.

Miss Amanda Grieger Weds Ella Worth Ashley—Ceremony Followed by Platform Dance.

At the residence of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Grieger, 255 Leeward street, Miss Amanda Grieger was united in marriage to Mr. Ellsworth Ashley. The ceremony was performed by Reverend Koerner in the parlors of the residence which was most tastefully decorated with carnations. Immediately following the ceremony a supper was served to the hundred invited guests and this was followed by a platform dance on a raised platform in the yard which was lighted with Japanese lanterns. The dance continued until three this morning and the party then repaired to the house to remain until time for the happy couple to leave for the new home on Jackson street. Miss Grieger was attended by the Misses Henrietta Ashley and Gertrude Grieger and Fred Jones and Clark Jones acted as Mr. Ashley's assistants.

Ardent Politicians Claim Postmaster Is Debauching His Office for Political Purposes.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Clinton, Aug. 27.—Politicians are much aroused over what is termed the violation of the postal regulations relative to postmaster's activity in the present campaign. There is always some sort of trouble in Clinton as to the postoffice and now the claim is made that the present incumbent of the office has been using the distributing room of the postoffice as a headquarters for the mailing and folding of Congressman Cooper's campaign literature. What has brought this affair to a climax is the fact that this morning the postmaster tore down two pictures of Thos. S. Nolan and threw them away despite the fact that the walls are covered with pictures of other candidates, including several of Congressman Cooper. Whether the attention of the justice department will be notified or not, but from the present temper of the opponents to Cooper is at blood heat and something may be expected.

CHAPTER XXXII.

ROOM stood for a few moments in the howling storm, abstractedly gazing toward Langens square. The chill in his marrow was not from the blizzard that swept down upon him. The gusty gray look in his face was not that of hunger or want. There was fear in his brain and chill in his heart. He had forgotten Jane's trivial tragedy. His one overwhelming thought was of James Hanesmer.

The heavy water was unbuttoned, and the snowflakes pelted in against his neglected shirt front. A doorman called his attention to the oversight. He came to himself, drew the coat close about his long frame and hurried off down Fifth avenue. The storm was so vicious that he boarded a cross-town car at Forty-second street. A man elbowed him in the narrow vestibule. He looked up and gasped aloud in sudden terror. An instant later he laughed at his fears. The man was not James Hanesmer. A cold perspiration started out over his body, however. Through his brain there went racing the over-revolving cry:

"He'll come straight to me—straight to me!"

The hour was not late, but the blizzard had driven the crowds from the streets. Eighth avenue sidewalks were deserted except for the people who were obliged to leave the storm. As Droom hurried south to his lodgings he became possessed of a rocking belief that some one was following close upon his heels—some one who was rushing up to deal him a murderous blow in the back. The old man actually broke into a frantic run in covering the last half block.

It was not until he was in his room, with the door bolted, that he could rid himself of the dread. The fire had gone out, and the light was low. His teeth chattered and his hand shook as he raised the wick in the lamp. The palsy of inexplicable fear was upon him. Kneeling before the stove, he began to rebuild the fire. His back was toward the door, and he turned from time to time. Footsteps on the stairway sent a chill through his gaunt frame. They passed on up the next flight, but he waited breathlessly until he heard the door of the apartment above slam noisily.

For half an hour he sat huddled in front of the stove without removing his hat and ulster.

"Curse the luck!" he was saying over and over again to himself, sometimes aloud. "Why should he have a par, don't? What are the laws for? Curse that meddling old fool Clegg! They'll not him free, and he'll hunt me out; I know he will. He won't forgive me for that day's work. He may be free now, it may have been he who followed me. But, not that! That's a silly thing to think. It takes weeks and months to get a pardon. Maybe—maybe they won't get it, after all."

He tried to throw off his desperate feeling of apprehension, chattering all sorts of comforting reasons and excuses to himself as he scurried about the room with aimless haste. Try as he would, however, when the time came he could not read—not even of his courage inspiring Napoleon. The howl of the wind mounded and appalled him. He caught himself listening intently for sounds above and not of the storm. A nervous, intermittent laugh broke from his lips as he went on cursing himself for a fool to be so disturbed by Graydon's report.

"What have I to fear from him? Why should I let that look of his unnerve me so? Why can't I forget it? It didn't mean anything. I'm a fool to think of it. Nearly two years ago, that was. Why, he may be—A new thought chased the old one out before it was formed. His eyes caught sight of one of his completed models standing in the corner. It was the model for the guillotine.

For a long time he sat staring at the thing, a hundred impressions forming and reforming in his brain.

"I wonder if I'll really die before he is liberated," he was saying dumbly to himself. "I wonder if I will. There's no sign of it now. I'm strong and all enough to live for years. Suppose he is freed inside of a month or two. What then? By heaven, I'd be losing the dearest hope of my whole life. My last sight of him—that beautiful vision behind the bars—would be spoiled, undone, wiped out. He'd be as free as I. I won't let the inside of a month, I'm sure. He'd come here and laugh at me, and he'd kill me in the end. God! I know he would. He'd have the joy of seeing my pain and terror and defeat—he'd see me last! I'd be bloody and crushed and—"

He checked himself in the midst of these dire forebodings to rise suddenly and cross to the ghastly looking frame with the cords, the hinges and the great broadsword that lay harmlessly in the grooves at the top. For many minutes he stood and gazed at the ax, his flesh as cold as ice. Then he tested the cords. The ax dropped heavily to the block below.

The odor of geranium leaves assailed his nostrils. With an ugly impulse he turned and swept the pots from the window box, scattering them over the floor.

He lifted the broadsword to his place tenderly, almost lovingly. "By my soul, it's a beautiful piece of work. It's as sure as the grave itself."

Again he stood off and looked at the infernal bit of his own handiwork, his eyes glistening with dread of the thing. He turned and fled to the opposite side of the room, keeping his back toward the silent guillotine which seemed to be calling to him. He glanced shyly, furtively, over his shoulder and then faced the thing deliberately, his jaws set, his eyes staring.

"It is a quick way—a sure way," he muttered. "I haven't anything to live for and but a few years at most. No body cares whether I live or die—not even I, James Hanesmer could not but even I, James Hanesmer will, if I—"

He crossed to an old chest and unlocked it lid with feverish haste. A bundle of papers came up in the grasp of his tense fingers. Casting dreadful glances at the insistent ax, he seated himself at the table and began looking over the papers.

"I won't take his father's rotten money, but he'll take mine. It's honest. It represents wages honestly, bitterly earned. There's more than $20,000 to give him. He'll be surprised. Twenty thousand!" He laid the first paper, his wild drawn in favor of Graydon Hanesmer, signed and addressed, upon the table and then carefully tossed the other documents into the chest. "My the Lord Harry, I'll have the best of James Hanesmer yet. His boy will take my money even though he spurs his. God! I wish I could see him when he knows all this. It would be glorious!"

He fingered the document for a tense moment and then arose to remove his coat and vest. These he hung away in his closet with all his customary carelessness. In the middle of the room he stopped, his quivering face turned toward the guillotine of execution. His foot seemed nailed to the floor. His brain was urging him to go on with the horrid deed; his body was rebelling.

Suddenly he found his strength of limb. With a guttural howl he clasped his hands to his eyes and fled blindly into his bedroom. Hurling his long, shivering frame upon the bed, he tried to shut out the enticing call of the thing of death. How long he quivered there, shuddering and struggling, he could not have told. In the end—and as suddenly as he had fled—he leaped up and with a shrill laugh dashed back into the other room.

There was no hesitation in his body now. With a maniacal glee he rushed upon the devilish contrivance in the corner, tearing the ax from its place with ruthless hands. Throughout the building rang the sounds of smashing wood, furious blows of steel upon wood, and high above the din arose the laugh of Elias Droom. In two minutes the guillotine lay in chips and splinters about the room.

Dropping back against the wall, wet with perspiration, a triumphant grin upon his face, Elias surveyed the wreckage. His muscles relaxed and his eyes lost the dread that had filled them. The smile actually grew into an expression of sweetness and peace that his face had never known before.

As he staggered to a chair a great sigh of relief broke from his lips.

"There!" he gasped. "It's over; it's over! My head is on my shoulders—it really is after all! It is not rolling into the corner—no, not by my head—my own head, too—it was a close call for you, Elias Droom. Now I'll take what comes. I'll wait for James Hanesmer! I'll stick it out to the end. If he comes, he'll find me here. I've conquered the infernal death that stood waiting so long for me in that corner, and I never suspected it either. How near it was to me! It stood there and, waited for me to come. It knew that I would come sooner or later! But I've smashed it. It's gone! It's not there!"

With eager hands he gathered up the pieces of wood and cast them into the stove. As the remains of that frightful minister of death cracked and split with defeated venom Elias Droom calmly pulled on his worn dressing gown, lighted his pipe and cooed his feet upon the stove rail, a serene look in his eyes, a chuckle in his throat.

CRYING FOR HELP.

Lots of it in Janesville But Daily Growing Less.

The kidneys cry for help. Not an organ in the whole body so delicately constructed.

Not one so important to health. The kidneys are the filters of the blood.

When they fail the blood becomes foul and poisonous.

There can be no health where there is poisoned blood.

Backache is one of the first indications of kidney trouble.

It is the kidney's cry for help. Head it.

Donan's Kidney Pills are what is wanted.

Are just what overworked kidneys need.

They strengthen and invigorate the kidneys; help them to do their work; never fail to cure any case of kidney disease.

E. C. Abbott, of 278 South Main St. Janesville, Wis., says: "I have used Donan's Kidney Pills and found great relief from kidney trouble and backache. My trouble was a very weak back and persistent attacks of backache which almost kept me in my bed. The use of Donan's Kidney Pills, procured at the Peoples Drug Co., has relieved me of those troubles and I have every reason to recommend them."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Donan's—and take no other.

IS INDUCEMENT TO RECKLESS BANKING

SO SAYS TAFT OF BRYAN PLAN TO GUARANTEE DEPOSITS.

DANGER OF LOSS GREATER

Democratic Nominee Given Ovation in Salem, Ill., His Birthplace—Chairman Mack Confers with Gompers.

Hot Springs, Va., Aug. 27.—"It puts a premium on reckless banking and is an inducement to reckless banking," thus did Mr. Taft Wednesday afternoon, in response to a direct question, state what, in his opinion, is the vital objection to the proposed plan to guarantee deposits in national banks.

"That is the fundamental objection," he said. "Relieved of the responsibility to and the fear of depositors, the tendency would be to induce exploitation, manipulation, and the use of assets of banks in a speculative way. It would promote speculation at the expense of his fellow bankers and that ultimately means at the expense of the depositors. Any proposition as to the amount of the tax that should be assessed, as based on the present rate of loss, is on an erroneous basis, as the danger of loss of deposits is increased vastly by the proposed system, so that the percentage of the tax would have to be vastly increased."

Bryan at His Birthplace.
Salem, Ill., Aug. 27.—Upon his arrival here Wednesday for a brief visit to the place of his birth, William J. Bryan was accorded an ovation. Although the train pulled in at the early hour of 8:30 almost the entire population of the city turned out to greet him. At the depot he was met by Mayor Vaters and a reception committee of 200, over half of whom were mounted. A brass band played "Home, Sweet Home." During the parade through the streets the sidewalks from the station to the courthouse were lined with people who cheered.

Speaks at Courthouse.
After the route of the parade had been covered, Mr. Bryan was conveyed to the home of some relatives, where he took breakfast, and later held a reception. Preparations were made for the presence of several thousand persons here Wednesday afternoon, when Mr. Bryan spoke from the courthouse steps. Special trains arrived from St. Louis and nearby points in Indiana bringing large numbers. Accompanying Mr. Bryan here from Indianapolis was Theodore A. Bell, who also made an address. Mr. Bryan immediately after speaking left for Topeka via St. Louis and Kansas City.

Mack and Gompers Confer.
Washington, Aug. 27.—Union labor's equation in the Democratic national campaign and the plans that have been formulated by officers of the American Federation of Labor to swing the labor vote to William J. Bryan were subject matters of a series of conferences Wednesday night between National Chairman Norman E. Mack and Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor; Secretary Morrison of the federation, and President McConnell of the Machinists' union.

Chairman Mack announced before his departure for New York at midnight that he had approved the plans devised by Mr. Gompers and his associates to aid in Mr. Bryan's election and that within a few days he would announce the chairman of the various labor bureaus which will be established in several of the large cities and conducted under the general direction of the national committee and the American Federation of Labor. During the evening Mr. Mack talked over the long-distance telephone with National Committeeman McGraw at Gratton, W. Va., and Congressman Talbot of Maryland. The situation in Maryland and West Virginia, Mr. Mack said was highly satisfactory.

Socialist Answers Bryan.
New York, Aug. 27.—John Spargo, the Socialist leader and author, has sent to William Jennings Bryan a long letter in which he answers the appeal made by the latter at Indianapolis for Socialist votes.

He says it was held bid for Socialist support which the Democratic presidential candidate made in his Indianapolis speech, and he calls it apothecary and futile appeal.

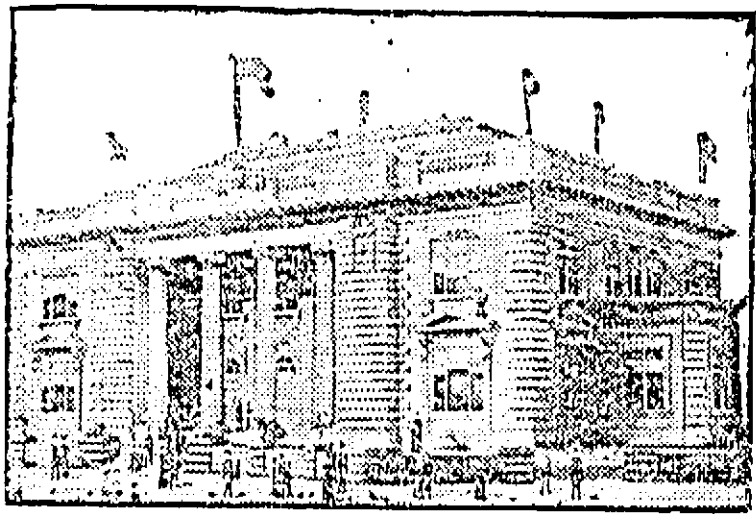

He tells Mr. Bryan that "Democratic judges have been just as ready to serve injunctions, and Democratic employers to seek them, as Republicans," and argues that the labor plank in the Democratic platform of 1896 was far more progressive than that in present platform. "There is no place in the Democratic party," concluded the letter, "for men who are looking and hoping for better and juster social conditions."

Hero Turns Burglar and is Shot.
Philadelphia, Aug. 27.—Caught in the act of robbing the house of a neighbor who had many times befriended him, Edward Mooney, a former city fireman with a record for heroism, was shot and mortally wounded by Policeman Harrington Wednesday night.

Noted Engineer Drops Dead.
Missoula, Mont., Aug. 27.—E. H. Hechler, one of the best-known civil and construction engineers in the United States, dropped dead Wednesday at the West Tunnel camp of the St. Paul pass, near Taft, aged 62 years.

Misplaced Kindnesses.
Kindnesses misplaced are nothing but a curse and disservice.—Emilius.
